REFER A FRIEND AND GET A FREE LESSON!

Rates are $120/month for one 30 minute lesson per week. Payment for the entire month is due on or before the first lesson of the month.

Accepted forms of payment: Venmo: @John-Holaway-1 // PayPal: JohnHolaway@gmail.com

To receive a make-up lesson for a cancellation, you must give the instructor at least 24 hours notice of original lesson time. Any same day cancellations will not be made up and the student will be charged.

There is a one make-up lesson limit per month and is arranged at the instructor's convenience. Any other cancellations are forfeited.

If the student cancels on a month with 5 lesson days, there will be no make-up.

In the event of mass cancellations such as weather days, power outages, etc; there will be a designated make-up day scheduled at the instructor's convenience.

Lessons will not be given on the following holidays: New Year's Eve/Day, MLK Day, Spring Break, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving (Thursday and Friday), Christmas Eve/Day. Since 5th lesson days are free, there are no refunds or make-ups for these holidays. Fees may be prorated accordingly for Christmas break.

To discontinue lessons, the instructor should be notified at least one week prior to student's termination. It is understood that the student is still enrolled until he/she notifies the instructor.

It is very important that the student understands the cancellation policies. Lesson slots are assigned to students on a "first come, first serve" basis. Your lesson time slot is reserved for you and ONLY you. Please understand that when you miss a lesson, the instructor precludes the possibility of earning income (from another student) during your lesson time because it was specifically reserved for you. As a courtesy, the instructor allows one make-up lesson per month. Lesson Policies may be updated periodically at www.TuscaloosaGuitar.com. Thank you for your cooperation and thank you for choosing me as your teacher!
